PERTINENT INFORMATION
14. KADAS, Lajos, former Colonel of the Hungarian Army, organized Hungary's industrial mobilization during World War II. Although the Soviets demanded his extradition as a war criminal at the end of the war, he was not turned over to Soviet forces and remains in Austria, where he is believed to be working for USIA agencies in Salzburg. Kadas is considered to be intelligent, capable and one of the chief organizers of the work at the time of its execution. He is reported to have left the organization because he opposed its production orientation and was critical of Zamo.
